- L.N.2.5.6 Explain, interpret, describe, and/or analyze the author's defense of a claim to make a point or construct an argument in nonfictional text.

Objectives:

- Students will define the news value terms. Explanations and real-life examples will be provided for students when going over the terms that they defined. (DOK Levels 1-2)
- Students will be able to deconstruct nonfiction text in order to explain and analyze it. Through this process, students will identify and explain the importance of the news values. (DOK Levels 2, 3, 4)
- Students will analyze how a writer's choices concerning how to structure an article, order information within it, and manipulate word count create effective writing. (DOK Levels 1-4)
- Students will be able to initiate and participate in a range of collaborative discussions with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly. (DOK Levels 1-4)
- Students will be able to present information, findings, and quotations clearly, concisely, and logically. (DOK Levels 1-4)

- Students will be able to apply an understanding of the Associated Press Stylebook rules and other grammar and punctuation rules (DOK Levels 1-2).

Core Activities and Corresponding Instructional Methods:

1. Talk to the text/annotating the text/articles
 - a. Students will review the reading strategy of text annotation.
 - i. Through text annotation, students will learn to locate main ideas, restate/paraphrase and summarize, and make connections.
 - ii. Model text annotation with various news articles to teach these skills. In this unit specifically, students will be going through three articles from the local newspaper and locating the seven news values. Before this small group activity, the teacher will lead them through one article for modeling purposes.
2. Define chapter specific vocabulary /apply terms to real world current events.
 - a. As students are defining terms, they will be connecting the terms to current events/articles that coincide with the terminology.
3. Direct Associated Press Stylebook instruction for commonly confused rules (topic #1).
4. View videos that address the news values that students have been locating in articles.
 - https://youtu.be/g7dn7_L8sBg?si=Gc7FuEMt8bkniZMW
5. Use the review source Kahoot to review the chapter terms and the AP style rules.
6. In small groups at the Wipebooks, students will take the weekly current events quiz from the New York Times.
7. View CNN 10 once-twice a week.
 - a. React to news items in writing.
 - b. Discussion effects of current events on society.

Assessments:

Diagnostic: KWL chart (what they know coming into Journalism I, what they need to know to be successful, and what they learned each chapter)

Formative: Analyzing articles, feedback from peers/teacher, guided practice of text annotation process, chapter quizzes, CNN 10 reaction worksheet

Summative: This unit is strictly formative in nature. As a result, there are no summative assessments.

- Students will be able to apply an understanding of the Associated Press Stylebook rules and other grammar and punctuation rules (DOK Levels 1-2).
- Students will be able to research various court cases that had a direct impact on the high school press.
- Students will be able to construct their own ethical scenarios in order to employ their knowledge of the Code of Ethics document provided.

Core Activities and Corresponding Instructional Methods:

1. Talk to the text/annotating the text/articles
 - a. Students will review the reading strategy of text annotation.
 - i. Through text annotation, students will learn to locate main ideas, restate/paraphrase and summarize, and make connections.
 - ii. Model text annotation with various news articles to teach these skills. In this unit specifically, students will be going through one article that explains how student journalists can avoid falling into the trap of fake news, an article about Stephen Glass, and a section of the textbook going over the various court cases that impact high school journalists.
2. Define chapter specific vocabulary /apply terms to real world current events.
 - a. As students are defining terms, they will be connecting the terms to current events/articles that coincide with the terminology.
3. Direct Associated Press Stylebook instruction for commonly confused rules (topic #2).
4. View the movie Shattered Glass that addresses the rise and fall of one journalist who fabricated articles and other content.
5. In small groups, students will review a list of 4-5 ethical scenarios that pertain to high school journalism. As a group, they will discuss the scenarios and identify which rule(s) found in the Code of Ethics is being violated. After this, they will then create their own ethical scenario using at least one of the rules on the Code of Ethics document.
6. Fill in skeleton notes as direct instruction takes place with the notes for the chapter on ethics.
7. Use the review source Kahoot to review the chapter terms and the AP style rules.
8. In small groups at the Wipebooks, students will take the weekly current events quiz from the New York Times.

- Students will be able to apply an understanding of the Associated Press Stylebook rules and other grammar and punctuation rules (DOK Levels 1-2).
- Students will be able to write an abundance of interview questions for a variety of sources in different situations.
- Students will be able to practice the skill of backgrounding to prepare for at least one outside interview with a source.

Core Activities and Corresponding Instructional Methods:

1. Talk to the text/annotating the text/articles
 - a. Students will review the reading strategy of text annotation.
 - i. Through text annotation, students will learn to locate main ideas, restate/paraphrase and summarize, and make connections.
 - ii. Model text annotation with various news articles to teach these skills. In this unit specifically, students will be going through a jigsaw activity that requires small groups of students to read a specific article. They will write down the main points and impactful direct quotes on a notecard and split into new groups. Each person will share out the notes that they recorded from their article. The articles include: “How journalists decide whether to interview by phone, email or face-to-face,” “How journalists can become better interviewers,” “5 ways journalists can overcome shyness during interviews,” “Five tips on how to take good notes during a news interview” and “Interviewing ‘real people.’”
2. Define chapter specific vocabulary /apply terms to real world current events.
 - a. As students are defining terms, they will be connecting the terms to current events/articles that coincide with the terminology.
3. Direct Associated Press Stylebook instruction for commonly confused rules (topic #3).
4. View the following interviews to give students the ability to listen to effective questions and answers. They will also be asked to take notes and attempt to get word-for-word quotations for practice purposes.
 - <https://youtu.be/rZ5HnyEQg7M?si=c2x1qnDBG5eJwQnB>
 - <https://youtu.be/zUtMjD92SVA?si=Agbh5sjofMyvGrXk>
 - <https://youtu.be/4eOynrI2eTM?si=hlFleyi4r-WeARIT>
5. Write questions for a variety of scenarios provided. The teacher will then act as the source and be interviewed by the class. Students will use their reporter’s notebook to record answers. They will also be encouraged to use an app (like Otter) that will not only record the interview but also transcribe the interview.
6. Write questions for a peer interview and conduct the interview with a peer in class. Students will work on both the craft of asking the question and writing the responses.
7. Complete backgrounding work for an outside source. Write questions for that same outside source. The day of the interview, students will be able to ask their questions and record the source’s responses.
8. Fill in skeleton notes as direct instruction takes place with the notes for the chapter on interviewing and reporting.

9. Use the review source Kahoot to review the chapter terms and the AP style rules.
10. In small groups at the Wipebooks, students will take the weekly current events quiz from the New York Times.
11. View CNN 10 once-twice a week.
 - a. React to news items in writing.
 - b. Discussion effects of current events on society.
