

Delaware Valley High School senior Erik Decker received a first award at the regional meeting of the Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science (PJAS) held at King's College in Wilkes-Barre on Saturday, March 2. Erik presented a project titled "Turning Brainwaves into Music" in which he explained a computer program that he wrote that converts brainwaves measured with a Mindflex headband into music. Erik is now eligible to take his project to the state meeting of PJAS at Penn State in May.
